The Process:

The documents listed below must be submitted to the Court for filing, along with the filing fee. Once the documents have been accepted for filing by the Court, the Court will review the filing for approval. The Judgment Entry will be mailed to the applicant.

The Court reserves the right to require additional documentation be submitted to support the application to conform a legal name, or hold a hearing on the application. The Court may conduct an independent criminal background check.

Note: You must list the individual's full name on all paperwork (first, middle and last). No initials may be used.

Initial Filing

- Notarized Application to Conform Legal Name of Adult (Form 21.7)
This must be notarized by a Notary Public before being submitted for filing (Court staff cannot notarize documents)

 - Marriage Record
 - Divorce Decree
 - Passport

If Requesting the Name Conformity to be Confidential

The law requires very specific criteria be met in order for someone to qualify for a confidential name conformity. The applicant must provide proof that it would jeopardize the applicant's personal safety to have the name conformity on the public record. Please refer to R.C. 2717.11 to determine if you meet the requirements.

In addition to the forms required for initial filing above, the documents listed below must also be submitted, along with any required attachments. The Judge will review all of the documents and make a determination as to whether it qualifies as a confidential name conformity. If so, the Court will contact the applicant or attorney to set a hearing, if determined necessary.

- Motion for Confidentiality of Proceeding (Form 21.6)

- Order Granting Confidentiality of Proceeding (Form 21.06)

The Applicant further states the following:

- 1. The Applicant has personal knowledge of the facts stated in this Affidavit;
- 2. Applicant is one and the same person referenced in each of the official identity documents, despite the name discrepancy;
- 3. But for the misspelling, inconsistency, or other error identified above, there would not be any discrepancy in Applicant's chain of identity.
- 4. Applicant is an adult;
- 5. The Applicant has been a resident of this county for at least 60 days;
